

The Township of Medford possesses a most rich history as witnessed and appreciated in the Victorian Medford Village. Initially settled in 1762 by the Quaker Society of Friends, this district provides a distinctive glimpse into the past with special shopping experiences and interactive community events. Situated between lush farmland and the unique New Jersey Pine Barrens, the beauty of nature is just a short drive from the village. Medford will certainly delight and please any individual, as a variety of enriching activities are organized every month of the year. From the holiday Dickens Festival in December to the exciting Art and Music Festival in June, there is definitely a community experience to interest one. Come visit Medford and discover why this hospitable town was voted the "Best Small Town Escape in New Jersey" in the April 2000 issue of National Geographic. Medford Village also received additional distinction as National Geographic commended the Dickens Festival stating, "Pine garlands and twinkling white lights provide a Victorian touch to tiny Medford in early December, when the whole township crowds Main Street ... and musicians alike greet familiar faces, of which there are many. For that's the kind of place Medford is: a friendly tight knit community where everyone knows everyone." While taking a tour of this fine village, experience the heart of one of the best towns in the South Jersey area and learn about unspoiled Medford.
